Dear Lloyd,

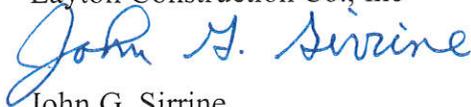

It has been a pleasure to work with Triad Steel Services on the new Marshalls Distribution Center project. With over 1.5 million SF of roof/ mezzanine structural steel, joist, and deck, the project required an incredible amount of planning, detailing and tracking of material to assure commitments could be made. Your teams' efforts to place early orders with the mills and track casting, rolling, and shipping dates proved to be valuable. This was just the beginning as Triad then orchestrated the fabrication, delivery, and installation of the material through several phases, all of which met or exceeded our agreed upon schedule milestones.

We appreciated the pre-construction efforts of Steve Hamre as we looked for cost savings ideas, tightened the schedule, and finalized the agreement. Jim Dalton then took the baton without missing a step and led Triad through several expedited shop drawing phases, local fabrication efforts, joist and deck fabrication, and numerous timely deliveries which in turn led to a seamless installation process. To top it off, the quality is outstanding and the structure looks great.

We look forward to many more successful projects together.

Sincerely,
